Exhibit of "Panels in Oil" By Mrs. Shockley Color Riot Sales of Studies in Chinese Design Are Numerous and Average $100 to $200 In Price.

By AMY D. PUTNAM.

Take Dorothy Ochtman's, "The Tang Jar," with which we are all more or less familiar from seeing it in the Corcoran Gallery, and which she has in the Arts Club for some time, multiply it a thousandfold, and you have some idea of the brilliance and Chinese spirit of the exhibition of Mrs. M. B. Shockley's panels in oil, now going on at the Arts Club, in the second-floor front parlor. It has been many a day since I have seen anything so vivid, yet without offending good taste. The whole exhibition is a unit, and all of it is charming.

The exhibition opened with a tea at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, at which there were many artists and persons of note present. All Thursday afternoon and Friday morning, Mrs. Shockley worked at getting this material in order. The arrangement of the pictures and the hangings is all her own, and is conceded by all to be harmonious and artistic.

The handsome Chinese scarfs and table covers serve well to set off this work. The artist, it is said, has many other beautiful and valuable pieces of Chinese tapestry, of which she chose the few most suitable ones for this exhibit.

In the hall is a strange figure robe, spread out to its full extent, which is said to have been presented to a certain Chinese gentleman on the occasion of his 60th birthday. It is of red material, with symbols or figures in a gray-white. On Friday afternoon, Mrs. Shockley displayed also a priest's robe which was pronounced to be wonderful.

There is an old Chinese tapestry on the wall that is said to be more than 200 years old. It is wonderfully well-preserved, and might have been made last year, for all the signs of wear it shows. The embroidered figures are very fine. Mrs. Shockley has many other wonderful embroidered tapestries.

Four of these panels are loans, and the rest are for sale. Mrs. Herbert Hoover has loaned a fire screen, Mrs. Nabro Bartley, "The Magi," and "Color Debauch," and Harold A. Titcomb, "California Wild Flowers." Two or three of these have been sold already, one of which, "Applicants," received a great deal of praise. This is one of the quietest of pictures, but the three shades of apricot color used are very charming. The highest-priced panel is "The Hollyhock Screen," at $500. Next comes the "Hawthorne Triptych," at $350. The other prices range from $100 to $200, except the "Trifolium," which is $250.

In buying these for a home, the quiet-colored ones would have to be chosen, as their vividness is too much for the ordinary home.

Frames Work of Art.

The framing of these panels has been a work of art. All the frames are very simple, the ornamentation being only oblong designs of the wood. All the frames are Chinese in conception, and some of them are said to be real teakwood.

Some one intimated that Mrs. Shockley's favorite was "Mille Fleurs," as she said she was happy all the time she was doing it. This contains six or eight different kinds of small flowers, odd-shaped vases, and all sorts of little floral and plant representations on the table below, of which one can make out

FORT MYER SOLDIERS THRILL CROWDS AT RIDING EXHIBIT

Officers on Mules Offer Piece de Resistance at Cavalry Demonstration.

If any were more delighted than the flappers in the gallery of the riding hall at Fort Myer, they were the private who stood by the north door, when the cavalry officers of Fort Myer ended the cavalry and rough riding exhibition yesterday with a game played on mules.

All the officers galloped into the arena on mules, with balloons and red rosettes adorning the necks of the steeds, saluting with wooden staffs. They divided into two teams and engaged themselves in moving potatoes from a tin basin at one end of the field to their own basin at the other.

The exhibition was under the direction of Col. W. C. Rivers, Maj. Charles P. George, Maj. George S. Patton and Capt. Charles Wharton.

SHRINERS' CIRCUS BOOKS ACTS FROM GREATEST SHOWS

Almas Temple Lets Contract for Big Indoor Performance.

WILL RUN 13 NIGHTS

Super-Vaudeville Will Be Similar to Production In San Francisco.

Preparations are in progress for the Shrine Indoor Circus, preliminary announcement of which was made during the week. This big social and amusement enterprise is under the auspices of Almas Temple and will be staged at Convention Hall from December 3 to 16, inclusive, except Sundays, for the benefit of the 1923 Imperial Council Fund.

Tickets will be distributed to members of Almas Temple in the next few days. These tickets are for sale to the general public. Season tickets admitting the bearer each night for thirteen nights will be sold for 50 cents.

The show is the best that can be assembled from the circus world. Many of the acts are taken from the Ringling and Barnum and Bailey programs of this season and have been making big hits on the road wherever these shows have appeared.

The performance will consist of from fourteen to twenty big circus and vaudeville acts, pageantry, dancing, concerts and many other features to be announced later.

Almas Temple has contracted with Noble John W. Moore, of Chicago, to put this show on. The Moore organization carries with it scenery and paraphernalia valued at $50,000. They will stage the same kind of a show as was produced for Islam Temple at San Francisco in October, 1921. Islam Temple received more than $45,000 as their share of the receipts, and this was used as a basis of the fund for entertainment of the Imperial Council last June.

Just as the session of the Imperial Council next June will be a great civic enterprise, so Almas Temple aims to make the Shrine Indoor Circus a civic enterprise, in which every resident of the District of Columbia may not only participate and enjoy a first-class circus, but be aiding in so doing the fund for the entertainment of the Imperial Council visitors.
